The Peregrine Falcon

An Urban Resident and An Endangered Species in New Jersey

Choose a Date:

Wednesday, October 26, 2005

Newark Teacher's Union

1019 Broad Street

Newark, NJ

Tuesday, November 15, 2005

OR Essex County Environmental Center

621 B Eagle Rock Avenue

Roseland, NJ

3:15 to 5:30 pm

Cost: $15.00 per teacher

Participants will receive:

- The Curriculum Guide The Peregrine Project

A comprehensive curriculum guide aimed at elementary school teachers, featuring 23 multi-disciplinary lesson plans and activities that are sequential, first covering birds in general, urban wildlife, birds of prey, then peregrine falcons.

- The Children's Book, The Peregrine's Journey by Madeleine Dunphy

- A Plush Peregrine Falcon with an authentic bird call

A species once extinct on the eastern seaboard of the United States is flying high again in the state of New Jersey. In 2005, 20 pairs of peregrine falcons nested in New Jersey. Educating children, the future stewards of tomorrow, is one important way of ensuring their continued recovery.

2 Professional Development Credits will be awarded upon completion
